

About CCPH

Mission to promote health equity and social justice through partnerships between communities and academic institutions.

Values: we view health broadly, We emphasize partnership approaches, We believe in the fundamental need for healthier communities, and We are committed to social justice and strive to model equity and justice.

NC CEAL

North Carolina Community Engagement
Alliance Against COVID-19 Disparities

At the Heart of the Matter: Building a Framework for Collective Action, is a partnership between CCPH, the Morehouse School of Medicine, American Heart Association Southeast Region, and The Center for Black Health & Equity. The partnership will convene HBCUs in the southeast region and their community partners to address cardiovascular disparities using the patient-centered outcomes research (PCOR) framework.

Community-Campus
Partnerships for Health

Promoting Health Equity and Social Justice

Researchers and community leaders standing together against COVID-19

RADX-UP.ORG

About CCPH

Elements for an Authentic Partnership

Citation: Achieving the Promise of Authentic Community-Higher Education Partnerships: Community Partners Speak Out! CCPH, 2007